On a third alarm—like the Ellis hotel fire or the Rusk street block, for instance. "Suppose, for example, an alarm came in from the South Side. Your recognized headquarters are at the city hall; how would you get to the fire if you were not provided with a private rig?"

"Order out a horse carriage or an engine, take it out on a street car, and be the last man on the ground."

"Would it be a saving to the city to have you run these machines to a fire where they were not needed, simply to get you there?"

"The run would set the horse back thirty days, the wear and tear of the carriage or engine would be costly, besides taking unnecessary chances of a smash-up and of a fire breaking out in the district where the machines belonged. And right here I can say that by having this rig and keeping the machines and teams in their places when not needed in other portions of the city during a fire, I have reduced the department's running expenses at the lowest estimate 40 per cent during the last year."

"Have you ever asked the city to furnish the horse and buggy that you now furnish?"

"I have not. In fact the matter has never been put before them in the proper light, if at all, and I intend asking the council at its next meeting to at least meet me on half-way ground in this matter. I know they realize the necessity of good service, and I will assist me in rendering it, and I think to ask them to meet me at least half way, considering other cities' actions, will not be considered out of place by the council."

Mr. J. H. Smith, brother to Hon. J. Peter Smith, mayor of Fort Worth, is lying very low. Mr. Smith has been sick since last spring, having had at that time dropsy which resulted in tubercular pneumonia. Three days ago he ate a raw sweet potato, which produced an occlusion of the bowels.

The attending physician reported to Col. J. P. Smith, last night, that the patient's condition was such that he finally turned upon them and declared that East Liverpool was a disgrace to Ohio and to a civilized country, and that he would not be associated with it.

Mr. Joseph Fowler finds himself the father of a new daughter this morning. Joseph wants to meet Grover at the fair grounds, and thinks he can show the best looking girl.

There is nothing out of the usual run of dialect comedies in "Kepler's Fortunes." It gives Gus Williams abundant opportunity for the exercise of his peculiar talents; in fact it seems to have been built just that way. None of its situations are strained, and the incidents dovetail together in a most perfect manner.

Gus Williams in his German dialect work presents a picture of a sturdy, honest old German butcher, and avoids the mistake so commonly made of caricaturing nationality. His work is natural, and in this respect it is the best art to conceal art. His specialty work is all new, and his playing being particularly rich bit of business.

His make-up is also a study. He is supported by a remarkably clever and well-balanced company. None of them are remarkable, but all are good. Miss Lorraine, as Addie Kepler, is a very charming little lady and one of the most pleasing singing actresses in the city.

She was enthusiastically cheered for her singing of "The Spider and the Fly" and "Mary and John." She carries her role well, though in many cases her lines are a little too rapid. The remaining members of the company are equally deserving of mention. "Kepler's Fortunes" will be the bill at the matinee for ladies and children this afternoon and again this evening.

"Kajanka," of Kajanka, which appears at Greenwald's next Wednesday and Thursday with a variety matinee, the New York Evening Sun says:

"Kajanka," the pantomime spectacle which had such a success at Niblo's earlier in the season, returns to that house on Monday night. The production is a fine one, and the company is well equipped with original specialties which will be introduced. The Mariposa dancers are still in the company, and their dances will be a treat for all eyes.

Practice company by living in a month's supplies from Penderly Bros. at their greatly reduced cash prices.

Cotton rolling in at a lively rate yesterday, 6½ to 7½ being the ruling figures.

The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday: Dennis J. D. Thomas to Miss M. E. Hudson, and Henry Ward (col.) to Alice Thompson (col.).

At 5:30 yesterday afternoon an alarm came from the depot, where a small blaze in the roof of the Texas and Pacific freight depot was soon subdued.

Charles Patterson, white, and George Washington Jones, colored, were chained together yesterday and taken to the county road, both being convicted of theft and given 30 days.

A negro named Ikard was arrested by Officers Scott and Bidaker last night for the purpose of getting to the fire at least as fast as the fire.

Ohio and New York.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Governor Campbell in a letter to the editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, has devoted himself entirely to replying to Senator Sherman and Secretary Foster on the silver question. The governor showed conclusively that the Democratic legislation, and for which Republicans were responsible, had caused the issue of a silver dollar worth only 80 cents in the market, and the putting upon the people of the country $4,000,000 of legal tender notes redeemable in those 80-cent dollars.

The Republican orators have been pressing the silver question to the front in Ohio, and they have received an answer which will probably close their mouths for the balance of the campaign. At East Liverpool the hall where the governor spoke was crowded by the paid employees of the manufacturers there who interrupted the governor to such an extent that he finally turned upon them and declared that East Liverpool was a disgrace to Ohio and to a civilized country, and that he would not be associated with it.
